Pansy 'Sunset Neon'

Pansy 'Sunset Neon' is a real scene-stealer, recalling the drama and excitement, the neon lights and the energy of a summer sunset over Hollywood's beckoning lights.

This latest addition to the premium Floriana Perfect for Pots seedling range is a handsome butter yellow pansy with contrasting 'neon' lilac petal margins and handsome whiskers.

For maximum results, plant 'Sunset Neon' in autumn and winter as the cooler weather encourages more dramatic colour contrasts, darker facial markings and larger flowers in this variety. Flowers reach to 5cm across and appear from autumn through spring.

At the peak of the cool weather, the colour intensity of Sunset Neon brings a much-needed lift to small space gardens, balconies and patio pots in particular.

As the weather warms the yellow flowers of 'Sunset Neon' mellow, with the golden centres developing lighter shades as they radiate towards the lilac fringed petal edges. At this end of the season, flowering should be further encouraged by the removal of spent blooms.

Consider planting 'Sunset Neon' in pots that have a black, white, yellow or purple glazed finish as these tones really show off the sterling attributes and true colours of this new pansy release to best effect.

Perfect for Pots seedlings take the guesswork out gardening. Perfect for Pots seedling varieties are chosen specifically for their suitability for pot culture. We look for varieties that will deliver months of reliable colour to patio, courtyard and balcony planters. Each four-cell punnet includes just enough seedlings to fill a 20-25cm pot. In fact, most varieties are available already in flower, so there's even less waiting for the show to begin.

Pansy 'Sunset Neon' really is Perfect for Pots. Planted in containers urns, window boxes and hanging baskets, this delightful new pansy delivers a superlative display with its radiant colours, bold markings and an attractive compact habit. Pansy 'Sunset Neon' also looks great in garden beds and border plantings.
